No one knows what to say... about Covid19 / Corona Virus, yet it has effected us all. It's not alien for us to isolate ourselves. We do this when we want to concentrate on ideas and embark on practical creative processes. Do you see this as a time of reflection and, as an artist or designer, to re-assess our planet and our relationship with it:
creatively, socially, economically, politically...?

*invitation

in 'locked'*

RCA Soc members, associates

The RCA Society invites you to participate in a responsive exhibition about the Covid19 pandemic and lockdown.

Has the experience of "Corona virus" impacted on you, as a person, or your work, as a creative practitioner, artist, designer or educationalist?

Your observations and statements about Covid19 and lockdown will be exhibited in three venues (UK, France and Germany) and shown on-line. Just send us your works - visual images, stills, sounds, videos, stories and comments.

The medium used can be any which is easy for you to send digitally or in an envelope or small package (by post). Works can be sent at any time during the exhibition dates (July 1 till October 30) and they can be replaced or revised during that time - to reflect processes of understanding.

We are also expecting members to host the installation in other venues (outdoor or indoor) in the UK, EU or elsewhere.

If you are in touch with other RCA Society members or RCA graduates or associates please encourage them to participate in this project. If you have any questions please either log on to the RCA Society's website for information or get in touch by email, text or phone.
